P. O. BOX 353383, PALM COAST, FL 32135-3383
YEAR LONG TOURNAMENT RULES
January 1st through December 31st
(Revised as of 1/01/2017)

The purpose of the Year Long Tournament is to allow club members the opportunity to be acknowledged for their fishing skills. Winners will receive their choice of a "Columbia" style shirt, Club Jacket, or gift card, along with the respect of all other club members for their accomplishments. The Year Long Tournament also determines the Anglers of the Year.

1. Year Long Tournament Rules:

- A. Awards: "Columbia" style Shirt, or Club Jacket, or Gift Card.
- B. 23 species of fish will be eligible and are listed on the standings sheet as follows: Amberjack, Black Drum, Bluefish, Cobia, Croaker, Dolphin, Flounder, Grouper, King Mackerel, Mangrove Snapper, Pompano, Porgy (includes all with exception of Sheepshead), Redfish, Sea Bass, Sheepshead, Snapper, Snook, Spanish Mackerel, Triggerfish, Trout, Tuna (which includes Bonita), Wahoo, and Whiting.
- C. Flagler Sportfishing Club Official Fish Entry Forms are calculated monthly so standings are constantly changing.
- D. Only one-year long award per member will be allowed excluding the Anglers of the Year and Club Record awards.
- E. The heaviest six fish for each species will be recorded in the Weigh Master's Report. First place goes to the angler with most points per species. Points will be assigned to each of the six positions within each species based on weight as follows: 1st place receives 10 points; 2nd place 6 points; 3rd place 5 points; 4th place 4 points 5th place 3 points; and 6th place 2 points. These points will be totaled to determine the winners.
- F. In the event of a tie in weight, the place is given to the angler/fish weighed in first. No member may win more than one award/category/species. This means you can be listed in first place in multiple categories, but at the end of the year you can only receive one award. Weigh Master will start at the Top of the Species List, 23 in all, and pick out the anglers with the most points in each category. If an angler has already won in a category the Weight Master leaves the second (or more) species open and continues to the next species. When all the First place winners have been determined the Weight Master will go back and fill in the open slots with next highest point winner "that has not already won a species" until a winner is determined in each category. After all the [jackets] awards have been allocated in this manner, additional awards will be made to any angler who has caught the heaviest fish in a species category but has not yet received an award. These awards will be allocated in the same sequence as the points winners were determined. This may result in two anglers winning awards for the same species.
- G. In case of a tie in points within a species, the angler with the highest placed fish within that species will be declared the species winner.

2. If a member accepts a jacket or shirt, he/she may have the wording on the jacket or shirt as follows: (Angler's Name), 1st Place (Species) (Year). If a member wins more than one species the member can have all species won listed on the jacket or shirt but only can receive one award. Member has the option to embroider their name only or nothing at all on the shirt or jacket.

- A. Final results and angler placement is the sole discretion of the Weigh Master in all categories. Any dispute may be brought before the Board of Directors for resolution. It is the angler/member's sole responsibility to submit any dispute to the board within 30 days after the final results are published, and must be in attendance at that board meeting. The Weigh Master, or President, if Weigh Master is not there, will need to bring up the dispute at the board meeting.
- B. The Year Long Tournament runs from January 1 thru December 31 of each year. Members must be in good membership standing as of December 31 of tournament year to have fish included in the Tournament.

3. Elite Angler of the Year award:

- A. The December 31st Weigh Masters Report will be used to determine this award. The Elite Angler of the Year may be won without having the largest fish in any category.
- B. Using the points in 1.E. above, the top "Points" holder overall will receive the Angler of the Year Award/trophy.
- C. If there is a tie in points the angler with the most 1st place fish (species) shall be declared the winner. If the score is tied there, the tiebreaker will become the number of second place finishes and will continue to move down a place until the tie is broken.
- D. Winning Elite Angler of the Year will also receive a trophy, club jacket, shirt or gift card along with his/her membership free for the next fiscal year. Here is the "but": Only one award per angler is the club rule. Example, should the Elite Angler of the Year also win a species division in the general tournament, he may only accept the jacket, shirt or gift card for one.

4. Lady Angler of the Year:

- A. The Lady Angler of the Year Award is determined the same way as the Elite Anglers of the Year award. There are no awards for individual species in this division. Lady anglers may win awards for individual species in the general tournament as well as Lady Angler. A Lady Angler may also win both Elite Anglers of the Year and Lady Angler of the Year.
- B. The standings for a Lady Angler Year Long Tournament are separate, however, a lady angler may have a fish count for both tournaments at the same time. Conversely if a lady angler has a fish that does not make the standing in the general Year Long Tournament it may still qualify in the ladies tournament.
- C. Winning lady angler will receive a trophy and club jacket, shirt or gift card. Here is the "but": Only one award per angler is the club rule. Example, should a Lady Angler of the Year also win a species division in the general tournament, she may only accept the jacket, shirt or gift card for one.

- D. If there is a tie in points the angler with the most 1st place fish (species) shall be declared the winner. If the score is tied there, the tiebreaker will become the number of second place finishes and will continue to move down a place until the tie is broken.

5. Male Angler of the Year:

- A. The Male Angler of the Year Award is determined the same way as the Elite Anglers of the Year award. There are no awards for individual species in this division. Male anglers may win awards for individual species in the general tournament as well as Male Angler. A Male Angler may also win both Elite Anglers of the Year and Male Angler of the Year.
- B. The standings for a Male Angler Year Long Tournament are separate, however, a male angler may have a fish count for both tournaments at the same time. Conversely if a male angler has a fish that does not make the standing in the general Year Long Tournament it may still qualify in the male tournament.
- C. Winning male angler will receive a trophy and club jacket, shirt or gift card. Here is the "but": Only one award per angler is the club rule. Example, should a Male Angler of the Year also win a species division in the general tournament, he may only accept the jacket, shirt or gift card for one.
- D. If there is a tie in points the angler with the most 1st place fish (species) shall be declared the winner. If the score is tied there, the tiebreaker will become the number of second place finishes and will continue to move down a place until the tie is broken.

6. Club Record Award:

- A. Club records can be found on the website along with the current Year Long Tournament standing and Lady Angler Year Long Tournament standings.
- B. A plaque/trophy will be presented to any holder of a new club record the year following when the catch was made, the same scheduled meeting when the Year Long/Lady Angler Tournament awards are presented.

7. Where fish can be caught:

- A. Fish may be caught in the following five counties: Duval, St. Johns, Flagler, Volusia, and Brevard.

8. Weighing in fish and Stations:

- A. All fish must be weighed in at one of the club's official weigh in locations, or at one of the club tournaments or club events where we have an official scale. All anglers must complete the official weigh in form and have it witnessed by someone at that weigh in location. Any fish caught by a club member in a non-club tournament within the designated five counties can be entered in the Year Long Tournament, under the following circumstances: (a) the fish is weighed on one of our certified scales and witnessed; or (b) the tournament provides a weigh slip, or published results for a confiscated fish recorded on an IGFA approved scale. Any fish weighed at a club tournament will automatically count towards the Year Long / Lady Angler of the Year Tournament results. The tournament records will serve as the angler's weigh slip.

B. The club has six official weigh in stations as of 01/01/2016:
